Concerning Musical Matters Generally. -IN-To the Editors of the Appeal: As I take it for granted that everyone fortunate enough to have had an invitation COLOTE. to the second concert given by the Mozaria availed themselves of ir, and thoroughly enjyed the elegant entertainment furnished by the society on that coasion, I am not going to commit myself to a criticism, which BEAUTIFUL FANS, $1 to $40. would prove my own inadequacy to the task of musical critic, but will simply agree with everybody who extends a cordial meed of appreciation to the conscientious instructors of the Mozarts and to the ambitious member of that society. It would seem to anyone interested in the reputation of Memphis, that this society is doing a better thing than merely entertaining the public; and that public has more to be grateful to Prof. Downs and his able assistants than for the delightful hours he secures for it by such concerts as that of last Thursday. We—that is Memphians (among whom this alien med dier is proud to enroll herself), suffer from a tanding reproach, which one is apt to hear repeated on all occasions, and with the vehemence of conviction: "Memphia is a purely commercial place—it's a good place to go to make money," our detractors will tell you, "but, voila tout?" And, come to think of it, we have given our detractors good and sufficient cause for just such animadversions. Now, then, if it is such a good place to make money, why should it not be made a good money, why should it not be made a good place to spend that money in rationally, intelligently and elegantly? Somebody of-fered us a library (I dont like to mention the gentleman's name, for it has been made a target of for all the locals of all the papers when items ran short for the past year or two), but we would have none of it. We see all sorts of improvements going on in Memphis-buildings and removals and enlargements and extensions in the business circles and in the brick and mortar line-but what and in the brick and mortar line—but what of the prople? Our people, our young people of both sexes, with whom our city swarms, and of whom, physically, any locality might make a boast. We hear of very few moves for improving them morally, extending them mentally or enlarging them socially. Dear boys and girls, over whom a multitude of mothers are fretting and fuming, helpless to instill any higher no-tions than that of making a good appear-ance in society. Within the limited expa-rience of this writer no move has been made in Memphis that has more promise of good in it than that inangurated by the Mozar Society, and has a refining, elevating, attogether good and desirable social influence. It deserves the hearty support and co-operalook forward to the time when Me **In the Diamond Dyes more coloring is given for ten cen's than in any fifteen or twenty five cent dyes, and they give faster it, enr young men will find the week Memphis will have something better to boast of than her "purely commercial advantages." Flood your homes with harmony, and my word for it, enr young men will find the week Memphis will have something better to boast of than her "purely commercial advantages." it, enr young men will find them more attractive than the gilded saloons or the hired minstrel. There is one inconvenience, however, attaching to all revivals, and I suppose it is not inaccurate to say that Memphis is in the midst of a musical revival, that is, that the freezy nerves upon all indiscriminately.
